TROUBLE OVER HIGHWAY RULES

On The Queen Elizabeth Way St. Catharines Has A Battle Of The Fences—In Grimsby Sector There Is Still Plenty Of Grief Over Sign Boards—Lawyers Are Now Entering The Picture.

(By JIMMY SIMPSON, in The St. Catharines Standard)

Out on the Queen Elizabeth Way, two miles west of St. Catharines, a "fencing duel" is underway. But unlike the duels of olden days, when swords were the weapons, the present duel is actually being fought with real fences. Fences of wire, fences of posts and cables, and at present fences of sand, are being used.

The battle has been going on now for almost a year. First one side scores a "touche" and then the other evens it up. At the moment the Ontario Department of Highways, with all the might and authority which it can command, is enjoying the ascendancy, as one of the adversaries in this strange battle. But William Moffatt, the lone man who is battling the entire department of highways, will probably even the score soon.

The battle is being fought over regulations pertaining to an entrance to Moffatt's property, situated on the northwest corner of the Queen Elizabeth Way and a road running between lots 6 and 7 in Louth Township. Moffatt claims that he has a right to an entrance from the Queen Elizabeth Way as there was a gate on the property when he purchased it in 1938. The department of highways says he can't come in from the Queen Elizabeth Way, which is a controlled access highway, and that if he wants an entrance it must be from

LARGE HIGHWAY SIGNS ARE VERY ESSENTIAL

So Declares Manager Of St. Catharines Chamber Of Commerce—Problem Will Get More Acute.

(St. Catharines Standard)
"Large highway identification signs, of billboard size, are essential to St. Catharines in securing more tourist traffic, which is being diverted around the city by the Queen Elizabeth Highway," said Leonard G. Masson, managing secretary of the St. Catharines Chamber of Commerce at the first annual Ontario tourist conference. Mr. Masson was addressing a large gathering from all over Ontario who had convened for a two day meeting to discuss tourist problems.

"Department of Highway regulations prohibit any signs of a billboard nature," said Mr. Masson. "This ruling affects not only St. Catharines, but all other communities situated on the Queen Elizabeth Way. As more four-lane highways are built, bypassing more and more Ontario centres, this problem will become more acute."

Mr. Masson pointed out that a good-sized sign would divert many thousands of tourists into this city during the summer season, and recommended that the Conference make a resolution in this regard to the Department of Travel and Publicity, to be passed on to the Department of Highways. The recommendation was referred to the Resolution Committee.

YOUR CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY IS COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

How You May Go About Adopting A Child — What Has A Husband And Wife To Offer In The Way Of Love And Security To The Child?

This is one of a series of articles submitted by The Children's Aid Society of the City of St. Catharines and the County of Lincoln. Our purpose is to further community understanding and interest in all programs dedicated to raising the standards of child and family life in our midst.

Do You Want To Adopt A Child?

What can we do? Where can we apply? How long would we have to wait? How can we be sure it will be a healthy, normal, child? These are but a few of the many questions asked by folk desirous of adopting a child.

Before giving further thought to the child you would like to adopt, think first of yourself.

On the surface one might look upon this as a thoroughly selfish approach. However, we do not consider it in this way. To be more explicit, have you ever asked yourself in all honesty, "Why?" It is you want to adopt a child? Could it be

CARROLL'S INSTALL REFRIGERATION UNIT

New Equipment To Be Used Especially For Fish And Sea Foods Of All Kinds.

Carroll's Ltd. have recently installed the latest design in fish counter refrigeration, and now carry a complete line of salt water fish, as well as all the tasty morsels of the sea, such as oysters, scallops, lobster and shrimp.

The counter itself is a very compact unit, and not only is it designed to refrigerate its contents, but also makes its own ice, on which the sea foods are displayed and kept under conditions that are one hundred percent perfect.

Proud of their new unit, Ron Smith and Roy Nickerson of the meat and fish department told The Independent that undoubtedly this unit is the most up to date piece of display equipment available. It's a Curtis Refrigeration product.

HOSPITAL RECEIVES ... $77,332.00 FROM GOVERNMENTS

Ottawa, March 7—A federal grant to assist with the cost of building the West Lincoln Memorial Hospital, Grimsby, Ontario, has been approved under the terms of the federal government's national health plan, Hon. Paul Martin said here today.

The hospital which formerly served this area was burned in January, 1948, and since then a small, temporary hospital has been in operation. It serves about 10,000 people in Grimsby, Beamsville and neighboring townships. Construction of the new hospital began last summer and is expected to be finished later this year. It will have a bed capacity of 36 and will be equipped to handle medical, surgical and obstetrical cases.

This project was suggested by the Ontario Department of Health, Mr. Martin said, and formal notice of federal approval under the federal national plan to encourage hospital building has been sent to the provincial health minister, Hon. Russell T. Kelley.

Federal aid for hospital construction is calculated on the basis of $1,000 per bed, with the province providing an equal amount.

A. R. "Sandy" Globe informed The Independent on Tuesday that the amount to be received from the Federal government would be $38,666. A like amount will also be received from the Ontario government making a grand total of $77,332 that the hospital construction fund will receive.

SCHOOL AREA DISCUSSED

Representatives Of Seven Municipalities Hear Plan Fully Explained By Ontario Department Of Education Official—Canada Like Rest Of World Is In A Transitional Period In Education

"Towns and villages cannot be allowed to become more important than the education of your sons and daughters," Stanley O. Randall, of the Department of Education, Toronto, told a meeting held in Beamsville last Wednesday night.

Representatives of Beamsville, Louth, Grimsby, Clinton, Cainsboro, Gainsborough and North Grimsby gathered to hear discussed proposals for the setting up of a High School area in West Lincoln. South Grimsby was not represented at its own request, the Council and school board in the township and Smithville feeling that they might lose their high school if an area were established. They wish to retain the Smithville High School and feel they should be an area in themselves to preserve their school.

In the absence of Reeve Frank Laundry, Councillor W. Claude Tufford opened the meeting, which was held at the invitation of Beamsville Council. He turned the discussion over to the chairmanship of Ernest Culp, Vineland Station, and Harry Reid was named secretary for the meeting.

Introducing the subject, Mr. Culp said Beamsville High School drew less than 30 per cent of its pupils from the Village, the remainder being County pupils. Owing to the present situation, an unstable financial situation could develop, especially in Louth, where ratepayers of the Rittenhouse School have been under a heavy burden in operating a bus to transport their pupils to school. The Beamsville Board of Education felt something had to be done to ensure equal opportunity for all who wished to attend school. The present method being too costly, the Board had investigated other means, and had presented the problem to Beamsville Council.

JOHNSON'S HARDWARE ADDS FLOOR SPACE

Large Partition Removed And Big Hallway Of Building Becomes Part Of Store—For Better Display.

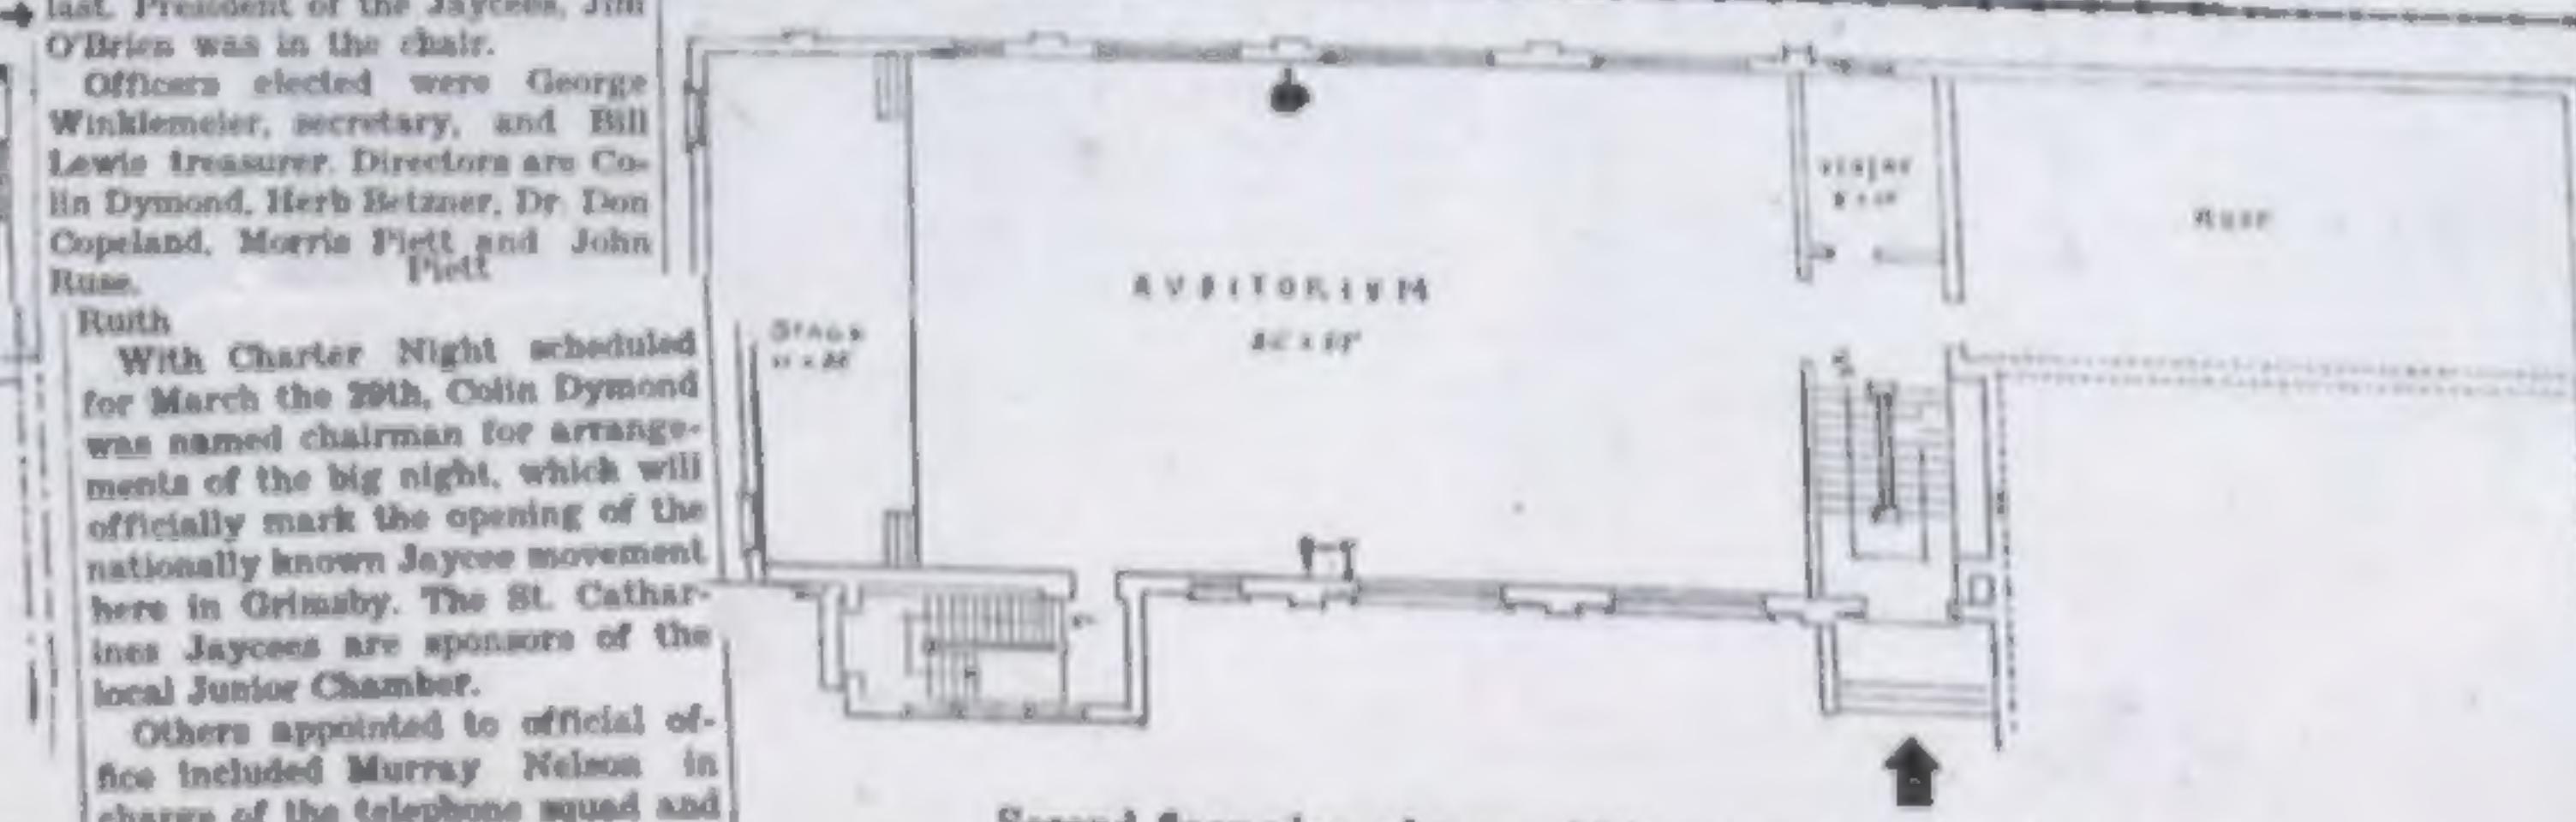

With four hundred square foot of floor space being added, Johnson's Hardware will soon be more spacious, and the thousands of items therein will benefit from a display angle.

The added space was once the hallway of the Marlatt Tavern, and of course, is fronted by that most famous of all doors, which is not being removed at present, but as time goes on and modern life has its way, "the door" will probably be replaced by a modern glass front.

Many tenants have carried on business in this old building which has had its face lifted considerably in the past few years, a post office, tavern and numerous other types of business has been conducted here. Now the old hallway becomes a means of displaying modern electrical appliances. It is truly surprising what a little renovation and the paint brush can do to a building even if it does date back to the early nineteenth century.

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

THE ONTARIO BUDGET

For the sixth successive year, the Ontario government has been able to report a nice little margin of revenue over expenditures in presenting the annual budget. The surplus reported by Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost was not as big as some in the past—it amounted to $1,182,000—but it made the six-year aggregate surplus a whopping $42,500,000.

Both costs and revenue came to about $28 million more than had been anticipated, and there were huge increases in the revenue from liquor sales, corporation taxes, gasoline taxes and auto licenses, as compared with estimates. Mr. Frost predicts a continued prosperity for the province, with high revenues from the tax fields now held by the province. He estimates that both expenditures and revenues will be some $23 million over the present fiscal year, with an estimated surplus of only $157,546.

Huge surpluses by governments are not a thing to be desired, but although a surplus of one million dollars seems large, it isn't too great when you consider that expenditures for the year ran to $212,708,000. Realizing that revenues were much greater than anticipated, the government is planning to spend more in the coming fiscal year, putting the money back into the province in the form of educational grants, highway work, reduction of some taxation forms, and a revised system of aid to municipalities.

In the coming year Ontario will spend almost $50 million on education. Capital grants are being made to the University of Toronto, McMaster University, Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario, as well as to the medical faculty of the University of Ottawa. That sort of spending is invaluable to the province, and will have untold benefits in the future as well as the present. Our educational system is being made the best in the Dominion, and it requires money to make it so. When one considers that some 400 new schools have been built since the war, and the provincial government contributed largely to each of these, one sees how expensive education is becoming. But in this regard, no legitimate expenditure can be considered too great.

One of the special features of the budget was the announcement that the method of giving help to municipalities is being completely revised. Since 1947 the province has granted a one-mill subsidy on municipal assessment. This cost $3,225,000 last year. Under the new system of giving aid in the form of percentage-of-costs, the province will give the municipalities $6,300,000, practically double the present figure. It will pay part of the cost of operating police and fire departments, will contribute one-half the net cost of maintaining homes for the aged, and will donate one-half the cost of building new homes for the aged. Considerable aid will be extended to the Children's Aid Society, while the province will pay one-third the cost of road expenditures undertaken by cities. At present there is a 50 percent contribution by the province for roads, but only up to two mills on the tax rate.

Another feature is that the 20-percent amusement tax, assumed by the province when the federal government dropped it, has produced $6 million in taxation and this, together with reserve funds, meant that $9,500,000 in grants to hospitals were made. That is putting taxation to a fine use, and will do much in the future to expand and improve Ontario's hospital service.

Future expenditure on behalf of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission will be increased, partly in expansion of rural electrification, and partly in changing over the frequency of the southern part of the province.

All in all, the budget is one of good tidings. It pictures a prosperous Ontario, where population, provincial income, number of industries and new investments have all surged ahead since the war. It foresees continued prosperity, and it outlines vast expenditures on behalf of the people of Canada's greatest province.

NOVEMBER WITH A FUTURE

As the snow melts, the history of Winter is revealed. In the deep woods, old tracks which have been covered by new snows show up again as hard little mounds that resist the strengthening sunlight. Mainly the tracks are the stories of small creatures' ordinary comings and goings, but here a buck fled with wolves pursuing. That must have been a long time back, and the snow has lain smoothly over the scene, disclosed now like an archaeologist's find.

Far off in the towns the processes of Spring are less dramatic, but the careful observer may find matters of interest even there. Like a beach-comber patrolling a retreating tide, he may discover that toy shovel which was lost before the big blizzard.

In town or wilderness, time runs backward as the snow melts off the North part of the world. Layer by layer the weeks reverse themselves through February and January and Christmas. A day comes when earth is peeled down to its peat. We are returned to bare, no-coloured November.

Looking back over the Winter we remember that there was a feeling about November, as though it were wanting for something bad to happen. This November that shows up from under the last trickle of snow is waiting for something good. The first bit of Spring might easily be mistaken for November, but it is a November with a future.

A CUP OF TEA

We can imagine the surprise of American tourists who happen to arrive at some of the more remote tourist reception centres such as Ivy Lea, Pigeon River and Kenora. They will be welcomed with a cup of tea, served free, if they happen to arrive between 10:30 a.m. and noon, or 3:30 and 5 p.m.

Undoubtedly this is a nice gesture on the part of the Ontario tourist people. A cup of tea is a very fine pick-me-up late in the morning or afternoon, although Canadians generally have not taken to it. Many Canadians overseas in the last war came to like the practice at the "Naafi break" when mugs of steaming tea could be obtained for a penny.

The travel people say that this gesture will earn Canada "invaluable friendships." That is probably true, although the coffee drinking Americans may need some education along those lines. They haven't gone in for tea parties very much since that first notorious tea party in Boston harbor.

CIRCULATION BUILDER

(The Printed Word)

Some investigation into newspaper history has brought to light a notice that appeared some years ago in a weekly newspaper in Kansas. No guarantee is given that it will be effective as a builder of circulation and advertising revenue, but in case any publisher wishes to adapt it to his own situation, here it is:

Two cents straight a line will be charged for all ordinary notices to all business men who do not advertise while living. Delinquent subscribers will be charged fifteen cents per line for an ordinary notice. Advertisers and cash subscribers will receive as good a send-off as we are capable of writing, without any charge whatever. Better send in your subscription, as the long check is already in the land.

CANADA HAD HUNGRY YEAR

We have heard much about postwar famine conditions in Europe, and Canada has done her share in helping to alleviate them. It is hard to realize that here in Canada we once had a near famine. Known as "The Hungry Year," it occurred in 1788, when Toronto did not exist. Crops were an almost complete failure, especially in Upper Canada, where the population was very small. Settlers trying to grow wheat among the stumps on their bush farms near Kingston and Niagara would have starved to death had it not been for the government rations.

These daily rations, which had been dispensed for several years to the almost destitute Loyalists, consisted of 10 ounces of flour, 10 ounces of oatmeal, eight ounces of pork fat and one ounce of butter to every man and woman and to every child over ten years of age. Younger children received half the amount. But some other people were hard pressed and subsisted partly on leaves, roots, on maple sugar obtained from the Indians and on what fish and game they could secure.

Though contemporary records shed little light, Canada must have experienced something approaching famine conditions again in the year 1816, when there were several thousand people living in the region of York (Toronto). It was known in the United States as "the year without a summer." In New England, where the bulk of the population lived, June of 1816 was a warm month with helpful showers and the promise of crops. But July brought frosts. Beans died on the vine and corn was killed outright. Wheat and oats were a failure, though rye and barley managed to survive.

Then along in August frost struck with a vengeance—as it sometimes used to do in parts of Southern Ontario, induced by the presence of the primeval forest. There was no hay crop in New England and cattle suffered. Such emergency substitutes as potato and beet tops made poor fodder. September was a bad month and New England was covered with snow and ice.

Even then nature was not satisfied and

FINDS THAT ADVERTISING NEVER COSTS—IT PAYS

The Ashburn Furniture Company, Alhambra, California, invests four per cent of its total annual sales in advertising each year, says an article in "Retail Home Furnishings." And according to Will J. Lavelle, advertising manager for the company, "advertising never costs—it pays."

Mr. Lavelle says that to realize profitable returns from advertisements, stores should set up an advertising budget based on a percentage of anticipated sales for the year and spread this budget over the year, in a way that will take advantage of seasonal selling opportunities when consumers are known to buy.

Merchants who use an advertising budget and plan according to predetermined selling opportunities, says the article should also take into consideration what competition is offering and what consumers are demanding in the way of value and price.

The major portion of Ashburn's advertising goes into the local newspaper, which Mr. Lavelle says is the best medium for advertising furniture, appliances and housewares. Only with consistent advertising can a store expect fast returns from its advertising, he says. Spasmodic advertising carries "no punch" and has no readership "backlog," he asserts. Other stores may have the same merchandise at the same time and at the same price, but the store that promotes its merchandise and builds up good will and confidence through steady newspaper advertising is the store that gets the sale, Lavelle adds.

LET PEOPLE PROVIDE FOR OWN "RAINY DAYS"

With the Dominion's surplus up to $609,900,000 thus far in the fiscal year (there are still three months to go) Finance Min. Abbott continues to emphasize that he will have to meet a lot of bills at the year's end and thereafter cut something off our debt. Not a word about lowering taxes.

Now we know perfectly well that Mr. Abbott's desk will have quite a few bills on it around the end of March, that he will have some loans to provide for, and also the prospect of more spending next year on defence. Yet when we add everything up we still find that Mr. Abbott is going to have a thumping big sum left about $400,000,000 to say the least, and we submit at this time, when taxation is making it impossible for many people to make ends meet, and making it desperately hard for some people to get along at all, it is not Mr. Abbott's business to have a thumping big sum left.

Mr. Abbott keeps telling us that whatever he has left over in the way of surplus will go toward reducing debt; that he must guard against a "rainy day." Does it ever occur to Mr. Abbott that people themselves might be given a chance to provide for their rainy days? This rather than having the Government doing it for them—leaving their future to what the State may be pleased to provide for them in the way of "security." Or is Mr. Abbott completely sold on the Socialist doctrine that people can't be trusted to look after themselves, or to spend their own money—that the State must do it for them?

In Canada today scores of thousands of people perhaps hundreds of thousands of people are denied the opportunity of providing decided not to rain. Not a drop fell for 120 days in part of that region. Devastating forest fires followed and these ended in a 12-inch snowfall.

Prices for produce leaped—gratifying to those who had it to sell. Hay soon rose to a peak of $180 a ton. Potatoes rose from 40 to 80 cents a bushel. Farmers received $2 a bushel for corn and $2.50 a bushel for wheat—good money in those days of the sound dollar. But North America was not the only land to suffer in that calamitous year. The British Isles and Continental Europe had similar conditions.

The freak year of 1816 naturally caused much discussion. Credulous folk believed the world was coming to an end and many of the odd religious cults of the mid-nineteenth century had their beginnings. Some people insisted that the world was teetering on its axis and approaching a new ice age, with the North Pole moving toward the equator and the Arctic regions soon to become lands of warmth and verdure. Such people began to envy Canada with her cold north. Sun spots were blamed by others and every rural weather prophet had his own explanation.

The theory has been advanced that the cause of "the year without summer" may have been volcanic eruptions far out in the Pacific. Incidentally, the crimson sunsets of the early 1880's noticeable in Toronto are known to have been brought about by dust from a volcano in the Pacific, as the late Sir Frederick Sturtevant, Dominion meteorologist at the Observatory, once told us.

There had been tremendous upheavals in the Pacific, one at Luzon in the Philippines in 1814, and another in the Dutch East Indies in 1815. The latter one was the record volcanic disturbance of all time. But H. R. Hoyt, writing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, declares the volcanic responsibility is only a guess. Up to the present scientists can offer no satisfactory explanation as to why nature went on the rampage in 1816 and half the world suffered. Could it have been some atomic outburst from the laboratories of nature?

ing for their own futures because the Government takes away their earnings. If such taxes were taken for absolutely necessary outlays, with the Government the while practising reasonable economy, no one could object. But when the Government shows no signs of economizing, when most of its departments are spending more than ever before, when it embarks ever and anon on more costly commitments, and when, despite all of this, its taxes are so high as to pile up a gigantic surplus (this in itself an encouragement to still further extravagance), it becomes a duty to protest.

Protest, accompanied by appropriate action, is in fact long overdue.—Ottawa Journal

DOINGS THINGS WE ENJOY

You can't measure all men by the same standard.

You call one man wise because he invests his savings in real estate, and another foolish because he spends all that he has for an etching, but they are equally foolish.

Each invests in the thing that will bring him the largest measure of satisfaction. Each buys the thing that to him is bread.

Collecting stamps is another man's golf; a rose garden is another's gold mine.

If you prefer staying at home with a pipe and a book while another man takes his wife to a dance, don't claim to be wiser or better than he. You may need to dance as much as he needs to read. In any case, each is feeding his appetite and doing the thing he enjoys most.

sign to erect nor was cleared up. He agreed to this and she was to be contacted later.

But later was too late. While she had been to phone taking the man who had come to the restaurant had the sign. He took a saw and cut both posts off. The sign fell, breaking as it did so. Today it is leaning against a nearby garage, still a subject of contention. But the man who cut the sign down is to appear in court this summer to face a suit for damages. The charge is against him personally, and not against the department. They can't be brought to court unless a suit is issued by themselves allowing prosecution.

"I never refused to take the sign down," Miss Dixon said, "but I did refuse to take it down until I was given an adequate reason, after having been told I could put it up. I am in favor of control of signs on the highway, but the man who visited me said that the type of restaurant we have opened was the kind of business they wanted along the Queen Elizabeth Way."

The Queen Elizabeth Way, designed as a super-highway to serve the Niagara Peninsula's busy tourist trade, was opened in 1939. It has been a contentious subject ever since it was first conceived. Not only does it bypass all the cities on this side of Toronto, taking free-spending tourists past their doors, but has been kept almost entirely free of any new businesses, apart from those that were already established prior to its construction.

This has meant that the lucrative tourist trade is hurried directly to Toronto, cutting off most of the business which was enjoyed by municipalities on Highway No. 8 the former main route. Very few gasoline stations operate on the Queen Elizabeth, and tourist camps are a rarity.

Much of the land used for the highway had to be expropriated, as it cut through farms for much of its route. And with its long straight stretches, inviting travelling, the accident rate is probably higher than any other stretch of similar length. The Queen Elizabeth Way was conceived and built during the term of office of Mr. Mitchell Hepburn, the loquacious Liberal Leader of the B.C.'s. It has been praised and it has been condemned. But it is with us and is now under the supervision of the present Conservative government.

But as can be seen from the experiences of Mr. Moffat and Miss Dixon and Miss Steinhilf, it is bringing still more problems. How will they be solved? Time will tell.

YOUR CHILDREN'S AID because you feel it is physically impossible for you as a potential mother and father to have a child of your own? Or could it be that you think the addition of a child to your home would help to eliminate a possible rift in your marital happiness?

First and foremost then, take a good square look at yourself and your partner in marriage and ponder over these questions for they are of vital importance.

A chat with your family physician, your minister or a close friend would undoubtedly assist you in arriving at your final decision as to whether you should present yourselves as potential adoptive parents or not.

One thing more . . . what have you as a husband and wife to offer a child in terms of love, security and educational opportunities in the years that are ahead? What is your philosophy of life? Are you a church attender and to what extent? What would be the reactions of your respective-laws towards your adopting a child? What of its effect on your adopted son or daughter in later years? How would you feel about telling your child he or she is adopted?

Children become adoptable for two reasons. First, because they have been made permanent wards of a Children's Aid Society, and their background is sufficiently suitable to deem it to be in the child's best interests for it to be placed for adoption. Secondly because parents or legal guardians choose to give their legal consent to their child being placed for adoption because of their inability to adequately provide for the care and the training of the child in question. In this second case, children may have been born in or out of wedlock. The long used term of illegitimacy no longer applies to children, we feel, become obsolete and a complete misnomer, for it is illegitimate parents rather than illegitimate children that we have in our midst.

As indicated previously, applications for the adoption of a child may be made through your local Children's Aid Office. In respect to the length of time you may have to wait for your child if your application is acceptable it is difficult to state. Children are not always available for adoption, however, this condition is subject to change at all times.

Your local Society has not considered it in the best interests of children and adopting parents to place a child for adoption on the basis of "first come, first served."

Experience has shown the wisdom of evaluating and assessing all factors in terms of placements as replaced, but also those persons wishing to adopt a boy or a girl. In keeping with this policy we have endeavoured to consider such characteristics and factors in both parents and child as mental and physical health, emotional stability, physical features in terms of colour of eyes and hair, stature and so on, in order that as satisfactory a matching of parent and child as possible can be realized.

On occasions we have been asked how long it takes before an adoption can be completed and also how old a couple have to be before they can make application for a child. To answer these questions one need only refer to the Adoption Act R.S.O. 1937, Chapter 21B, which states in part:

"Except with the consent of the Minister of Public Welfare an adoption order shall not be made in any case where—

(a) the applicant is under the age of twenty-five years; or

(b) the applicant is less than twenty-one years older than the infant in respect of

made.

Also "An order of adoption shall not be made unless the provincial officer certifies in writing, (a) that the infant has lived for at least two years with the applicant and that during that period the conduct of the applicant and the conditions under which the infant has lived have been such as to justify the making of the order.

The finest contribution one can make to child-life is that of a home. Are you doing all you can to make this possible?

A small town is the place where a woman would hire another woman's servant if she wasn't afraid it would make the woman mad.

The Red Cross must be prepared for all eventualities. Year after year the demand for Red Cross services grows. Millions of dollars have been spent in flood, fire and other disasters, in aiding the stricken and homeless.

Throughout Canada, the Red Cross operates 75 Out-patient Hospitals and 2 Crippled Children's Hospitals. More are being built and more are needed. Last year over 70,000 patients were served by Out-patient Hospitals.

Province by Province the Red Cross is opening its Free Blood Transfusion Service. Untold lives have been saved by this great organization. But more funds are needed to expand and maintain this humanitarian work.

Red Cross provides many services for veterans in Hospitals. Other Red Cross activities include: Junior Red Cross; Swimming and Water Safety; Nutrition Services; First Aid and Home Nursing; Women's Work Activities etc.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning to Make Plastics

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, as in the pictures shown here, every effort of Ontario's newly-skilled plastics workers will mean better plastic products — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

Grimsby Camp Meetings

CHAPTER IX

At a meeting on August 29th, 1879, "it was resolved to hold a Dominion Day demonstration in the following summer, with a concert and fireworks in the evening." The International Temperance Association held its annual meeting here that year, lasting for several days. Many prominent Canadian and American speakers were present, and the meeting was a great success.

In 1880 the brothers William and Rechab Tandy conducted the music, and I venture to say that in no year since has the music at the Park equalled that of this year. The closing concert was one to remember. Dr. Griffin was the Chairman, and he filled up the spaces between the musical numbers as well. Dr. Griffin can at his very best.

In 1882 the new hotel was planned, and in 1883 it was ready for occupation. During all the years there was constant improvement and embellishment, and Mr. Phelps, Mr. Bowditch and Mr. Fairfield, were the busiest of busy men, loyally sustained and supported by the Company.

In the meanwhile the meetings were being well attended and were very popular. For a number of years the old camp-meeting methods were adhered to—three services every day, with many meetings besides, and the period extended to a fortnight with two Sabbath included instead of one. The change to the present system was a gradual one. The meetings were in charge of different ministers, who each conducted them with marked success and ability. They were the Revs. Dr. Williams, Dr. Anderson, Dr. Griffin, Dr. Wakefield, Dr. Sutherland, and probably others, before Dr. Benson's term of several years and Dr. Phillips', which still continues.

The pulpit and platform services have always been first-class, and thousands of persons have been enabled to listen to sermons and lectures which by no other means could be brought within their reach. Very faithful have been the efforts of the boards of later years to carry on the work of their predecessors. Only on the books of the Company are the names of those men to be found, and as I have not access to those records I can only mention those names which come to mind, and they probably are not in the order to which they belong. Judge Jones must have been for many years among the directors of the Company. So also was the late Dr. Rosebrugh and Mr. Thomas Cutham, Mr. Edward Galley, and Mr. Wilkinson, the energetic Secretary and Vice-President, the Revs. Mr. Robinson, Mr. Burns, and many others whose names ought to be here.

Mr. R. C. Fairfield, who was for so many years associated with the affairs of the Park in connection with Mr. Phelps and Mr. Bowditch, is another man whose name belongs here. Indeed, as a member of the trio which for so many years were associated in the interests of the place, and did so much for the benefit of the Company, it would be an act of injustice to ignore his long years of work in its service. Mr. Fairfield was for fifteen years the Secretary-Treasurer of the Company, and like the others, he gave his time, thought, and money gratuitously to the cause. Nearly every day in the season he could be seen in company with his colleagues busy about the affairs of the Company. The position of Secretary of such an institution is no sinecure, but entails much hard work, and Mr. Fairfield, equally with the other two, deserves that these services should be acknowledged. His duties were not confined to the secretary's work alone, but his judgment was always relied upon when questions of weight came up for consideration, as well as in matters of detail about the place. It is several years since Mr. Fairfield severed his official connection with the Park and ceased to spend his summers there, but his family still occupy one of his cottages during the season and he occasionally visits the place for a short time.

Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Toronto School Board, has summered at the Park for twenty years, and has taken a deep interest in the affairs of that institution. He has been a member of the Park Board for ten years, and for seven years has been its Secretary. Two years ago he was elected Vice-President, and since the death of the late President Phelps has been acting President. He is now the oldest member of the Board, and his experience and knowledge of the past is invaluable to the present directorate.

Mr. Wilkinson is prominent in Methodist circles in his own city, being a trustee of the Berkeley Street Methodist Church, and active in its Sabbath School. He is also prominent in temperance and benevolent associations, and in every way a most desirable man for the position he holds on the Board of the Grimsby Park Committee. He is the oldest member of the Board, and his experience and knowledge of the past is invaluable to the present directorate.

It is with a feeling of great sadness that the Park community thinks of the vacant places which death has made since last year. The death of the President was not unexpected, but that the genial and lovable Dr. Burns, in the full strength of his manhood and with all his mental and physical powers undiminished, should be called away so suddenly came as a great shock not only to the Grimsby Park people but to his numerous friends and admirers throughout the country. At Grimsby Park he will be missed from the platform, from the social circles where he shone so brilliantly, and from every phase of the Park life.

Not especially will those who have for years attended his Sunday afternoon Bible-classes miss those occasions when he brought to them the latest and brightest thoughts on the day, and endeavored to bring the truth home to their minds with greater force and clearness.

No other man will fill the unofficial place that Dr. Burns occupied at the Park. His personality was a unique one, and the vacancy caused by his death will be a permanent one.

Grimsby Park has become a most popular resort for young people. The summer girl is here in all her glory—afoot, afloat, at the station, the wharf, the tennis courts and in the assemblies—you cannot escape her even if you would. She is omnipresent, and without her Grimsby Park and the world would be dull indeed. She gives an air of perpetual motion and perennial youth to the scene, and keeps the old foggies from stagnation. She is on excellent terms with the Doctors of Divinity and other magnates, whom she beats at lawn tennis. If she liked she could beat them at quoits. Long may she reign!

The Grimsby Park boy is the king of his kind. He doesn't have to wash his face, because he is always in the lake and it never gets dirty. He doesn't have to brush his hair, because it never needs it, and anyway, it wouldn't be of any use. He never has to black his boots for the same reason, and, besides, they are worn out before the new look is off them. He is not asked to run errands in this boy's paradise, nor to mow the lawn, nor to hang up his hat. His mother does not forbid him to go in swimming as she does at home, and he can fish from morning until night. He can rent a bicycle for 15 cents an hour, and if his funds are low, as they usually are, he can earn a fortune in no time picking berries for the farmers nearby. He can get all the ice-cream he can pay for, and if he is a "square" chap (which he mostly is) he can do pretty much as he pleases. Oh, it's a fine thing to be a Grimsby Park boy!

PLAYERS' GUILD SET BACK DATE OF PLAY

The date for the Grimsby Players' Guild's third production of the season have been set forward one week. In last week's paper the dates for the two night run at the High School Auditorium were set at Thursday and Friday, March 21 and April 1. However, the Guild felt they needed more time to prepare "Ten Little Indians," a very difficult play to produce well, and moved the dates forward one week. This means that "Ten Little Indians" will be presented on Thursday and Friday, April 7 and 8.

FARM FORUM NEWS

Woolverton Red Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goo. De Quetteville with a good attendance. Secretaries for the evening's discussion concerning income tax were Mrs. Reg Walker and Goo. De Quetteville.

Factors affecting income peculiar to farming were discussed—such factors being insecurity of prices, weather conditions, inability to get farm help and the farmer's objection to paying income tax because they put in so many more hours to obtain their income than the man or his servants.

We do think income tax is a fair method of taxation, but we would like to see farmers have $2000 tax free as some officials now receive. Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Merritt, to further discuss income taxes.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The joint annual meeting of the Beamsville and Grimsby Branches of the Ladies' Auxiliary of West Lincoln Memorial Hospital was held at the home of Miss Olive Kitchen on Wednesday, March 1st.

About fifty members were present and Mr. A. R. Globe addressed the meeting expressing his gratitude and that of the Board of Directors for the very helpful and tangible work done by the Auxiliary during the past season. He announced a Spring-Time Dance to be held at the Village Inn, the proceeds of which would be used by the Auxiliary for the purchase of hangings for the new hospital.

Mrs. Sheppard, secretary of the Beamsville Branch, read a very fine report showing that 272 new articles had been made and 400 articles mendied and 1304 new articles made.

The officers of the Beamsville Branch are Mrs. Nell, president; Mrs. D. Stewart; Mrs. H. Tish, vice-president; Mrs. Englehart, Treasurer, and Mrs. Sheppard, secretary. All officers of the Grimsby Branch were returned to office.

Mrs. Nell thanked the Grimsby Branch for their kind hospitality and invited them to Beamsville for the next annual meeting.

THE "KING OF KINGS" A REMARKABLE FILM

During the past three or four months considerable space has been given in newspapers and magazines, as well as time on the radio, in telling the story of the life of Christ. For example, Norman F. Langford's "The King Nobody Wanted" was run as a serial in a Toronto Daily. Every Monday evening until April 18, the Canadian Broadcasting Company is presenting a dramatization of Dorothy Bayers' "The Man Born To Be King." Fulton Oursler's "The Greatest Story Ever Told," is running as a serial in a Buffalo Daily.

Due chiefly to this widespread interest in the story of Jesus, the Young People's Society of St. John's Presbyterian Church, believe a worthwhile service to this community is rendered by the presentation of a notable motion picture, "King of Kings." In the eye of the motion picture camera, under a masterful Director (Cecil B. DeMille) and the reverent genius of famous actors, the story of Jesus takes on human form. It is a presentation so intense and absorbing, so inspiring in its portrayal of love and sacrifice, that no words can accurately describe it. The picture must be seen to be appreciated. It will be shown at the High School auditorium Wednesday evening, March 16th, beginning at 8 o'clock.

TRINITY AUXILIARY

The Trinity Service Group of the W.A. met on Tuesday afternoon in the Baptist Church with president, Mrs. Norman Bowers presiding.

As a result of the new health dinner and the Wear-Ever Brush Demonstration, Mrs. Victor Cotton and Mrs. Rowland Merritt reported tidy profits for the treasury. Mrs. Howard Ingelhart gave her report as the convenor of the membership committee.

Mrs. Thomas Voight gave a very comprehensive and interesting report on the United Church Freshy Meeting in Hamilton.

Several members volunteered to help at the Red Cross quilting bee, to be held in the Baptist Church Hall, March 23rd.

The president told the members what transpired at the recent official board meeting in regard to future plans for the new building.

Mrs. Daniels from the Richard Hudnut Co. was the guest speaker for the afternoon and she took for her topic "The Art of Good Grooming." Mrs. Daniels read extracts from articles she had written and stressed "Exercise, Diet and Beauty Care" all mean good grooming. She urged her listeners to learn to buy sensibly, eat correctly and

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Nelson and Rodgers had spent many summers. Bruce spent the weekend visiting with Mr. Parker at the Beach. Mrs. Nelson's niece in Pictou.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gillespie of Park Road, had surprise visit from their son Jim and his wife and baby Rose. Their daughter Esme was also at home on her usual week-end visit.

Dr. W. Aubrey Crich returned on Saturday from a two weeks visit to the United States. Dr. Crich spent the first week on a Growers' Bus Tour of Florida, the second week observing in a Dental Oral Surgical Clinic in Washington, D.C.

Friends of Mrs. Charles Simpson of Windsor, will be sorry to hear that she passed away March 3rd, and was buried on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Simpson was well known in the Beach, having operated the Diana Belle Boarding House, the past few seasons.

Friends of Miss Margaret Rodgers will be sorry to hear that she passed away last week at the home of her niece in Toronto. The funeral was held on Thursday. Miss

BEACH WOLF CUBS
Little Bobby Lee led the Grimsby Beach Wolf Cub in one of the bigest Grand Howls of all time last Thursday afternoon when the Cubs met in the Pack Den. This got the meeting off to a good start, and after the usual preliminaries the cubs divided up into three groups and set to work. Akela's group was working on semaphore, 2nd Star First Aid work was done by Bagheera's group and the third group busied themselves with games under the direction of John Gillespie, Michael Udeil, Don Cosby, Freddy Lee, Bill Jackson succeeded in passing their "first aid."

With this meeting's points added in, another month has slipped by in the pennant race. The Yellow Six, which has held the pennant for the past two months, has again won by a nice margin, having a total of 77 points, a full 8 points above their nearest rivals, the Browns. Here are the totals. Yellow 77, Brown 72, Senior Six 66, Red 60 and Blue 60. Hooray for the Yellow!

for the big event to-night? What event? Why Drama Night, of course! The two presentations, Noah's Ark and Elmer, promise to be hits, so quick, buy a ticket and come out to the GHS auditorium for the annual Drama Night. The choir will also be giving out with some vocals so come and enjoy an evening of drama, music and fun.

Friday night Grade XI presents the Fruit Salad Sprue. The boys are having the honour of being escorted to this affair instead of being the escort. Don't be too late now. Get out and hook a man "tout de suite," and be sure to come dressed up neat!

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

A large number of women from the churches of Grimsby gathered in St. John's Presbyterian Church on Friday afternoon, March 4th, to observe the World Day of Prayer.

The program prepared by the World Day of Prayer Committee in consultation with groups of Chinese Christian women in different parts of China is world-wide in outlook and had as its theme this year, "The Lord is Thy Keeper."

Mrs. W. E. Burke presided for the afternoon and women from each church took part. The address was given by Mrs. W. H. Stedwill. Mrs. J. P. McLeod and Mrs. D. K. Anderson sang with Mrs. D. McInnis at the organ. Others assisting were Mrs. Wm. Layton, Mrs. Geo. Hildreth, Mrs. H. Steedman, Miss M. Cline, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. W. H. McClure.

GRIMSBY RED CROSS

A small boy is alive and well today because his mother had taken the Red Cross Home Nursing Course.

The boy wandered away from his home and fell into the icy waters of a nearby creek. His mother was alone in their isolated home when she missed the child and started out to search for him. Halfway down the long driveway to the highway is a bridge over a creek. She looked over the bridge fearfully and saw the child lying face down in the pool. When she lifted the boy from the water he was black in the face. She ripped off his clothes and began artificial respiration. This she had learned in the Red Cross Home Nursing course last summer. Undoubtedly this knowledge saved the child's life.

Your contribution to the Red Cross campaign enables Red Cross to teach women the simple nursing skills which made it possible for this mother to save her child's life. The provincial objective for 1949 is $2,000,000.

JAYCEES COMPLETE

Ron Chivers as Membership chairman.

Already the Grimsby Jaycees have selected as a civic improvement program, a "paint-up, clean-up" campaign which will be pushed this spring.

A general meeting has been called for Sunday night at the Legion Hall to be the site, and the time is eight o'clock. All members and interested parties are asked to attend.

BOARD OF ED.

A request from Dr. D. R. Copeland that the dental survey of school pupils started last year by local dentists free of charge, be again carried on this year with a nominal charge being made, will be more fully discussed at a later date.

Kenneth Griffith, public school principal, was instructed to see that doors of the school be open to the children at least 15 minutes before the start of classes, particularly in inclement weather. This action followed complaints from parents that pupils of one of the schools were not allowed inside until five minutes before nine, regardless of weather conditions. Secretary was instructed to send out the teachers' contracts at once.

SCHOOL AREA

which had called the meeting.

Inspector W. A. Marshall, St. Catharines, was the next speaker. He traced developments leading to the setting up of High School areas in the east end of the county. He felt the west end provided a natural geographical district for one and recommended that Beamsville and Grimsby get together on the idea. He explained South Grimsby's reasons for not attending the meeting. Mr. Marshall introduced Mr. Rendell.

Canada, like the rest of the world, was in the middle of a transitional period in education, Mr. Rendell said. We are moving into an era of mass education, away from the old idea that only those best fitted through circumstances of money and ability, should go on to secondary education. Present theory is that every child should be educated up to a certain age, purely on the limit of his ability.

The limit of this education is the state's ability to pay, the speaker said. Education must be accomplished in the most economical way, lest the state become financially embarrassed and unable to pay the ever-mounting costs of mass education.

Dealing with the history of high school areas, Mr. Rendell said there had been a realization during the early stages of the war, among rural areas, that their children weren't receiving equal opportunity in education with children from urban areas. Especially was this so in technical education. High School Areas began in 1944, in Kent and Essex counties. From that time and until June, 1946, some 80 areas had been established in Ontario, and the municipalities thus served had been "fairly happy" over the result. There were now some 12,000 children riding to school in buses; there should be 26,000. Mr. Rendell pointed out that approximately half the problem had been overcome.

The average High School Area contained 7,000-10,000 people, with an assessment of $7-10,000,000, and an area of 200-250 square miles. Buses travel, on the average, 12 to 15 miles in picking up their loads. Some 180 new school buses have been added to the system during the past two years, he said.

High School areas are the result of municipalities trying to make things work. Mr. Rendell told his audience. It takes hard work to make rural municipalities work together, but the fact that 75 per cent of Ontario is incorporated in areas proves that there must be a great deal of merit in the idea. Progress should be, slow and thoughtful on this matter.

Dealing with possible set-ups here, should an area be formed, the speaker felt — the present high schools would continue with courses up to Grade 10. There would also be a new senior school somewhere near the centre of the area.

U.S. APPLE PRICES

With cold storage stocks of apples on January 1, 1949, much smaller than a year earlier—17.7 million bushels compared with 27.8 million—the Bureau of Agricultural Economics expects United States apple prices to continue high for the rest of this season. The January average price of $2.85 a bushel in 1949 was about 42 per cent higher than that in 1948 and the average price received by growers for the 1948 crop has been tentatively estimated at $2.12 compared with $1.78 for the 1947 crop.

ST. CATHARINES HAS A 50 MILL TAX RATE

A tax rate of 50 mills, the highest in the history of St. Catharines, was struck late Monday night by the city council.

The new rate is an increase of seven mills over the 1948 tax rate and six mills higher than the previous high mark set in 1938.

The tax rate was struck on an assessment of $36,245,924. The general tax rate for the city is 23 mills, with the board of education assessment remaining at 17 mills.

Despite the fact that assessment figures had increased over $2,000,000 in the past year, the council was unable to keep the tax rate any lower. Over $100,000 of the $371,000 increase in city expenditures was accounted for by increased wages and salaries of city employees.

The meeting closed with a resolution asking municipal councils, after consultation with their Board of Education, to make recommendations to the County Council by April 15.

Tenor of the meeting was favourable to the idea, as outlined by Mr. Rendell, and discussion among groups of delegates continued for a considerable time afterwards.

Obituary

GEORGE J. LANE

George James Lane, 8 Oakwood Avenue, Simcoe, died yesterday at his home following several weeks' illness. He was in his 60th year. Born in Melbourne, Ont., he was a son of late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lane. He resided in Alberta until he was 14 years of age and later lived in Windsor and Leamington. Moving to Port Rowan in 1935, he resided there until 1946, when he came to Simcoe. He was a member of Port Rowan Baptist Church. Surviving besides his widow, the former Lucille Livingston, are three sons, Gordon, of Port Rowan, Neal, of Simcoe, and James of Grimsby; one daughter, Mrs. Walter Cope, of Aylmer; one brother, Edward, of Pontiac, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. W. McKay, of Carstairs, Alta.

WOLF CUB PACK

Fred Davis was awarded his Grand Paw.

Robert Johnson's group consisting of Emil Fekat, Andy Kusko, Jerry Blaine, Michael Marshall, Gene Emerson and John Harstone finished their work in Leap-Frog and Somersault and passed the test for Balon.

Ward Cornwall, Lynn Lamberti and Doug Sawatzky passed their Second Star Physical Exercises after being coached by Dan Roberts.

The whole Pack performed the Dance of the Death of Shere Khan to finish the meeting.

CLINTON TOWNSHIP HAS OFFICIAL CREST

(Beamsville Express)

"Established 1850" says the new official crest of The Corporation of the Township of Clinton, recently adopted by Council. Designed by Peter McKinnon, a Township employee who lives on Mountain Street, on top of the mountain, the colourful crest depicts the varied products of the township.

Centred in an orchard, complete with pickers' ladders. Circled around the orchard is a scroll of green, and one of blue, containing the words: "The Corporation of the Township of Clinton." Surrounded by a crown, the crest is decorated with sheaves of grain, peaches, pears, berries and grapes, depicting the varied types of agriculture found in the municipality.

It is destined to be worked into the decoration of the new West Lincoln Memorial Hospital and will appear on letterheads and other official documents of the Corporation. Beamsville also is working on a design for an official crest for the Ville.

SPORTOLOGY

(By Bones Livingston, Sportologist)

THANKS, REX, AND TO MOMMA, TOO—You have all listened to REKALL STIMERS shouting his guff over the airways. Guff that the people of Lincoln County and other places believe because they know by now that Mr. George Stauffer and Thompson-Principi are not hiring a date. I have heard Old Rex rave and rant for a lot of years. Sometimes I thought he was wonderful. Sometimes I thought he was rotten. But on the whole Momma can rise up and say that through the years he is the best sports broadcaster in Canada. I make that statement without any idea of ever kicking up. I listen to them all and I still come back to STIMERS. AS HIGH MacGREGOR told you in SPORTSPLAY last week, REX has been up against a tough proposition this winter in trying to boom his own TEPPER, put in a plug for the PEACH KINGS and at the same time giving a helping hand to Niagara Falls Manga, his own St. Catharines Masons, and all the kid teams and at the same time try and satisfy Port Colborne, Crowsland and Dunnville. It's a helluva job for a sports editor let alone a sports broadcaster, which is just twice as tough. Tough as may be there are times when a sports writer or a sportscaster will go out on the limb and tell the truth. OLD REX done that last Friday night and it pleased me very much. He only backed up what I have argued for years. He claimed that OLD POP MacVICAR was the best coach in Canada. And he went on to cite why. That broadcast about OLD POP and his coaching pleased me more than anything that has happened in this old burg in 40 years. 26 years ago I had a finger in the hockey pie that brought OLD POP to this town. I have never had a regret. As a hockey player, as a businessman and now as a hockey coach he has brought honor to himself and to the men that first brought him here, and I was one of them and I am still behind him. I had nothing to do with the eulogy handed out by REX. That was his own expression of opinion. I thank him for it because he handed it out to a real man and a boy who has done a lot for his adopted Town of Grimsby.

REID IS BADLY BATTERED AS KINGS TAKE THE FOURTH GAME

Playing before the largest crowd of the season in the new Fort Erie Memorial Arena, the Niagara Falls Manga held tamaciously to the Peach Kings for two periods, before hitting the skids and dropping the fourth game of the best of seven series to the Peaches, the final score being seven to four.

For two periods the checking was hard, and the action fast, with both goalies being tested and little else could be desired in a hockey game. The Manga with their backs to the wall fought hard to smash the Kings into the ice, and succeeded in injuring Pud Reid in one of the dirtiest plays this department has had the displeasure of witnessing throughout this season and past seasons thrown in for good measure.

The Manga opened the scoring at the eight minute mark of the first period, when Flynn's shot dropped at Lesson's feet, and the King goalie actually pushed it over the line himself as he lost track of the elusive rubber. The Kings waited only two minutes before registering, Pete Soutar hanging in Barlow's rebound from a post shot. This was but the first of three goals from the Barlow-Soutar combination, who were terrific all night, as was Dunham, who although kept off the scoring sheet, played a great game both on the offensive and the defensive.

At the thirteen minute mark the Kid Line turned on the heat and Blanchard got a stick on the loose puck and slid it into the net, while Gruhl and half a dozen players piled up in front of the Falls net. Bill Hutchinson displayed some neat work, killing time as Hoyle sat out a skating penalty.

Second Period
The Kings bottled the Manga for five minutes at the start of the middle frame, the defense clicking perfectly with the forwards, but Gruhl rose to the occasion and saved on shot after shot as the luckless Kings failed to score.

Soutar drew a boarding penalty, but the Manga could not pierce the defense with Gluck playing a great game protecting Lesson. As Soutar came back on, Clancy fed the kid, a perfect pass, but Soutar was over anxious as he went in alone on Gruhl, the shot missing the net.

The Manga took over in the late stages, Pavone and Joe Rocco working in close to test a brilliant Lesson. Gluck teamed up with Dadds for a perfect rush, and again Dadds missed the net as he had on Gruhl at his mercy.

With the Kid Line on, Phillips snaked around the Kings defense and beat Lesson to the count at the fifteen minute mark. Shortly after Pud Reid wound up behind his own net and got as far as his own blue line, where three Fall players converged on the flying Beamsville defenseman. Phillip Peach Kings gave him a terrific dose of knee bashing and with Reid on his way to the Mountaineers, McAndrew wangled him again and Reid crumpled to the ice in an unconscious state. He was carried off the ice in a chair from the ice, and attended by Dr. Jack Christie, who ordered the bus to stop. Reid was through for the game. Phillips was given a major by Dr. Christie, and in the opinion of many, the Falls player should have been tossed from the game.

Opening the third period not man advantage the Kings had on, but with Phillips back on, the Barlow worked his way out corner then sent a perfect hit in to Soutar who was parked in front of Gruhl who never had a chance on the quick shot. The Manga romped in to lead Lesson, McAndrew unassisted.

Tests The New Ford

By TOM McCAGHILL, in Mechanix Illustrated

FORD'S OUT FRONT" the ads used to read and a year ago this statement was highly debatable. To-day Ford is really out front—and by miles!

The 1949 edition is quite an automobile. It's good to look at and better to drive, and I think that all in all Ford is again the King of the low-priced field.

In the July issue we brought you a very much abbreviated report on this car because on our first trip to Dearborn, there just weren't any production line jobs available for a test. The job I was allowed to drive was a hand-made affair. By now most of you have seen pictures of the Ford if not the car itself, so there's nothing to be gained by discussing its appearance. If you like the new, low, double-ended look, you'll like the Ford. But there are other changes. Here they are:

The engine differs slightly from last year's. It now boasts an upright distributor and the manifold has been slightly changed. This reduced weight with an engine of 100 horsepower makes the new Ford the greatest performing stock vehicle ever made in America with a price tag of under $2,000. Frankly, this new Ford will outperform its big brother the 1949 Mercury with ease, and it will chase a Lincoln, without its overdrive, right up an alley also. In performance there isn't a car in the Ford class that's fit to carry the spare tire of this new job.

The entire Ford chassis has been redesigned. The Model "T" suspension has been dropped and in its place it uses independent coil springs in the front and longitudinal leaf springs in the rear. This overcomes one of the major complaints against previous Fords—bad riding.

The drive change is another major switch. Instead of the former torque tube, the new car has what is known as a Hotchkiss drive. This means that the driving force is absorbed through the rear springs instead of through a torque tube and wishbone as in previous models. The Hotchkiss drive is much lighter than the old type and the action is noticeably softer. This will make for longer chassis and clutch life.

The wheel base remains the same as on the former cars, 114 inches, and the overall length varies less than an inch. The seats are wide, measuring 57 inches in front and 60 inches in the rear (making them wider than the tread). The overall height is about 3 inches lower.

The newly designed frame accounts for much of the weight reduction. Instead of the former X-type frame of the past still used on the Mercury, Ford now has what is known as a K-type frame in all its closed cars. On the convertible and station wagon it still uses the X-frame—the convertible because it hasn't any top support and the station wagon because of the heavy loads it might have to carry.

On my return to Dearborn, I grabbed a two-door custom sedan and headed for the high-speed Ford track. After a few laps at 80, I gave it the gun and went up in a few hundred yards to 90 on the speedometer (which checked just a hair slow by a stop watch). I held 90, 91, 92 continuously for close to 40 miles. This car, to my mind, with its regular 10x6.00 tires, handles better than either the new Lincoln or Mercury at high speeds, especially on turns. Not that either the Lincoln or Mercury handles badly; they are tops in their class. But this new Ford is sensational. On a straightaway with overdrive it will do between 93 and 97, and from 90 to 92 without overdrive.

After giving this new car every kind of high-speed handling test and finding it tops, I made a number of acceleration runs from a dead stop to 60 through all gears. Here are the results: I went from 0 to 60 in 15.8 seconds. In high gear I went from 10 miles an hour to 60 in 19.4 seconds. That's fast in any company.

In summing up, I'll repeat myself and say Ford is out front by miles. It's class, brother! Hop in one and you'll see what I mean!

DONALD USENIK OF PORT ARTHUR, ONT., guides vehicle through traffic

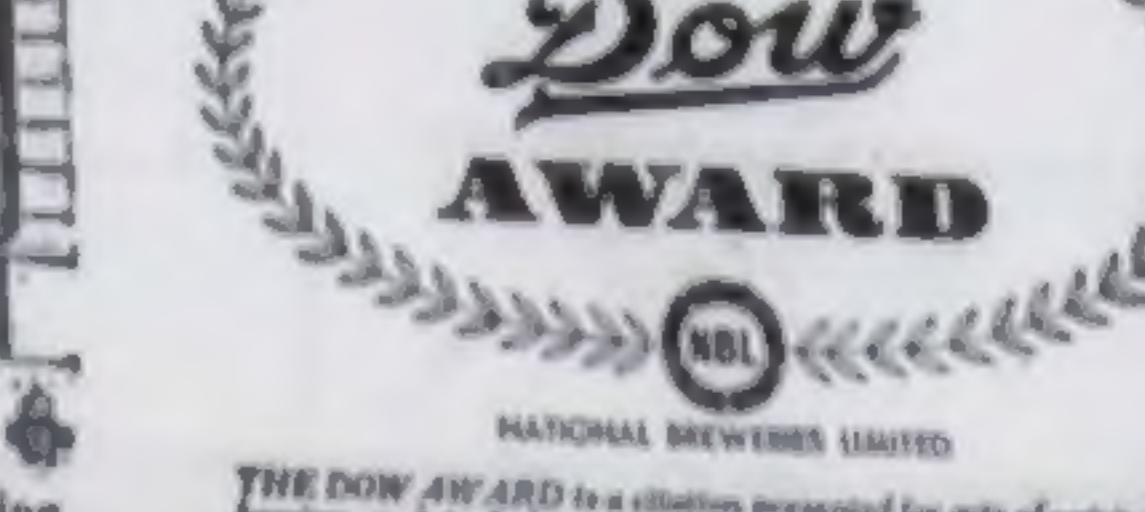

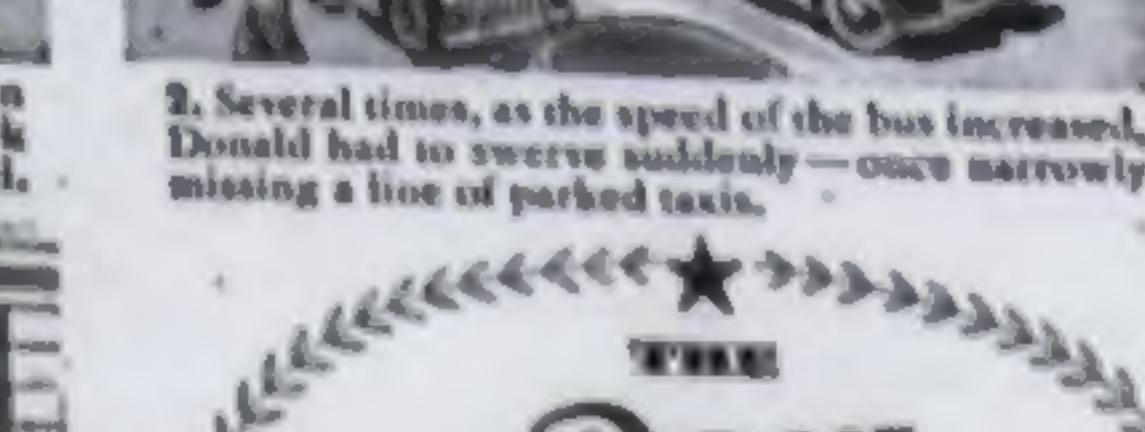

A PASSENGER bus had stalled on a grade. While the driver was phoning, the emergency brake gave way and the bus started rolling down the street. 14-year-old Donald Usenik tried the foot brake but couldn't make it work. As none of the male passengers offered to help, Donald grabbed the wheel and started to steer.

After some narrow escapes in heavy traffic, the youngster swung the bus around a corner onto an incline. His courage won him The Dow Award for bravery.

SPORTS*PEACH KINGS SEND THE MANGS TO THE MOTH BALLS FOR YEAR

For the fifth time in six starts, and all within two weeks, the Peach Kings sealed the fishermen of Ray Mangs, sending the Falls crew back to the Roar City where they can take up their favorite pastime of watching the water roll over the precipice in a never-changing scene, and can be compared with the manner in which the Kings rolled in on the Mangs goal in never ending waves (well, almost never anyway). Players and fans alike were getting just a bit weary of watching these two teams clash, and it was always a foregone conclusion that the Peaches had just a bit too much on the ball for the team without a home arena.

The Kings survived six penalties in the first period, three of which were absolutely of the weak variety, and managed to notch that all important first goal, with Billy

Gluck, who turned in his best performance of the winter, going a shot past Gruhl. The Gluck using a five iron to confuse la Gruhl who never made a move. With Mush Miller serving his second penalty of the period, Denny Leeson proved himself with two sensational stops as Phillips and McCracken went in almost unopposed. As the period ended the final minute Bill Hutchinson took a neat pass from Dodds, and Hutch made no mistake, sinking the rubber behind a sprawling Gruhl. The Kings almost came out with a two goal lead, but with twenty seconds remaining, Heximer got through to beat Leeson on an unassisted goal that was a nice effort. Hutchinson was off for cross-checking at the time. Gluck's solo rush in this period did not net him a goal, but the crowd enjoyed one of the best stickhandling exhibitions of the season.

Although the Kings had a couple of good scoring chances in the early stages of the second, the Mangs outplayed them, with the locals coming up with another one of "those second periods." Phillips evened the count at 10-10, with Joe Rocco assisting, but Reg Dodds kept the Kings in the game with a goal at the 12:15 mark, as Hutchinson returned the favor and gave the big feller a clear shot, which Dodds labelled. Again the Mangs outplayed a disorganized King team, and Phillips notched what was to be the Falls' last goal, the tally coming at the 16:10 mark, Pavone assisting. There were two penalties in the grim second period, Miller for slashing and Allen for hooking.

Leeson's great stop on McCracken's shot was a feature of the period. The Kings were fortunate to come out with a three all draw.

Pete Soutar and Jack Clancy broke fast at the 8:15 point, with Soutar laying a perfect pass on Clancy's stick, and Clancy's shot was the best of the night as Gruhl was beaten cleanly. This was all the strong finishing Kings needed. Two minutes later Mush Miller and Normie drilled rubber at Gruhl, who was having a hectic time as his defense let him down. Blanchard finally poked a loose puck into the cage, the insurance goal being quite sufficient to take the fight out of the Mangs.

The Kid Line crashed into the scoring column again at the sixteen minute mark, with Duffield backhanding a shot past Gruhl. Warner and Blanchard earned assists on goal number six.

With only forty-five seconds remaining, Mush Miller had to slap three shots at the goal before he lit the light. Miller just stood about twenty feet out and slapped the puck in, and twice it came right back out. The third time it stayed.

Clancy lowered the boom on Joe Rocco, crashing the fleet winger with a terrific bodycheck that left Rocco like limp rag on the ice.

Instantly Mickey Flynn jumped Clancy from behind and tied a lasso on Clancy's surprised pan. With the two falling to the ice, Clancy gained the upper hand with the assistance of Miller, who took the role of peacemaker, and Clancy took the opportunity of spreading Flynn's nose over a wider expanse of his Irish mug. The two Irishmen took major penalties, with an extra two minutes tacked on Clancy for boarding Rocco.

Friday night the Peach Kings proved again to be a darn good third period team, when, after a listless second stanza, they opened up with the punch and power that should be sufficient to take the Brantford Nats in the finale of the Big 6 Senior B group.

The entire team failed to show to the best of advantage, which can be attributed to two reasons. Firstly, that the entire team was plenty tired of playing against Niagara Falls Mangs. This final contest marking the sixth game in which these two had met over a period of two weeks. And secondly, the locals did not look as impressive as in the early games of the series simply because the Mangs played a much better brand of hockey. In the first two games especially, the Falls team, and the defense in particular, made the locals look pretty sharp. Most of the fans agreed that the kid line of Blanchard-Warner and Duffield, was far from being the aggressive trio they were in the early meetings of the two clubs. However, a look at the scoring in the entire series shows that this line was the high scoring line, but a fact which is most important, is that the remaining two lines started to roll in great style, which after all is what Coach McVicar wants to see. With three lines working together the Kings have a much better chance to take Brantford than if one line was carrying the entire load.

Breaking down the scoring we find that the Kid Line led with thirteen goals, while the Dodds centred trio followed with nine, and Barlow's Babies, Soutar and Dunham with seven. The defense accounted for still another seven, to bring the total to thirty-six. The Mangs scored twenty-two against, eighteen of these went by Lessom, and four credited to Art Walburn who filled in when Lessom received a knee injury.

And speaking of goaltenders records, Lessom's record of four and a half goals per game, as compared to Gee Gruhl's 7.50 leaves little doubt in our mind as to which of the two is the better goalie. However, in all fairness to Gruhl, he still played a good game considering the sieve of a defense he had in front of him.

Considering that the pace was a bit rugged throughout the five game series, the Kings came out of it in pretty fair shape. Hamilton's noted bone jerker Doc Perrikin brought Lessom's knee around with his usual swift efficiency, and Pud Reid, who came out of the fourth game a mass of strained and torn ligaments, should be well on the way to recovery by the time the Kings take on the Nationals of the Bell City.

And what about Brantford? In four meetings throughout the schedule, the Kings defeated them by scores of four to three and six to four, while they turned back the Kings six to four. The fourth game ended in a two-all draw. The Kings held a single goal margin, scoring sixteen to Brantford's fifteen. Close hub?

For those of us who like to play the odd buck, the above figures should be revealing enough to show that the odds should not be very great either way.

In Lessom the Kings have the best protection, but what we shall watch with interest, is the forward lines. Brantford have been carried through on the strength of one line, Hewson, Wlaczek and Pigeon.

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN

The keen interest shown in the classes on the subject of stationary engineering under the guidance of Mr. C. F. Dillon, Power Engineer, M.I.P.E., denotes the progressive spirit of the engineers in this community.

A class in mathematics would be of advantage, and it is hoped that the educational spirit will be caught by others, whereby regular evening classes may result in the general academic improvement of the community at large.

MEASLES ON INCREASE

There were 160 cases of measles reported to the St. Catharines-Lincoln Health Unit during the past week. The reports were received from all sections of Lincoln County including St. Catharines. This brings total cases for the year to 400. During the past week there were 90 cases of chicken pox reported, making the year's total for this disease 420. Mumps had no cases reported during the week, with 32 cases so far this year; scarlet fever reports total 26 for the year and whooping cough only a lone single case.

MARCH 18, DEADLINE FOR LICENSE PLATES

The last date for renewal of motor vehicle licences and drivers' permits is Friday, March 18, the Hon. George Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways, announced today.

Mr. Doucett reported that to date, only one-half of the licences had been issued.

Of #82,171 passenger car motor vehicle licences last year, only 385,000 have been renewed so far this year.

Of 1,209,406 drivers' permits, only 650,000 have been issued.

The minister warned that licences should be secured at once, as there would be a great rush from here in.

50 YEARS AGO

(From the Spectator Wed. of Tuesday, Feb. 26, 1899.)

C. W. Wellington, of Grimsby, has demonstrated that sugar cane can be cultivated in Ontario with profitable results. Last year a neighbour of his cultivated a quarter of an acre of early amber cane, and from the product of it Mr. Wellington made 40 gallons of good syrup, which sold readily at 75 cents a gallon. This means a yield of $138 an acre; and the St. Catharines News says that the yield on this quarter of an acre was not an average crop. The syrup produced by Mr. Wellington was excellent in quality, far superior to the imported American article.

SMITHVILLE TO HAVE A COMMUNITY PARK

(Smithville Review)

The members of the Smithville Agricultural Society voted on the question—"Are you in favor of selling the Smithville Agricultural Grounds to the Township of South Grimsby, for the purpose of turning it into a Community Park, the Agricultural Society to retain the privilege of using the grounds and buildings for their garden party and fair," on Tuesday evening and an overwhelmingly majority favouring it. 84 voted yes and 2 no while one ballot was spoiled.

The decision now rests with the Municipal Council of the Township of South Grimsby as to whether or not they will purchase the property.

If the township does purchase the grounds the Department of Community Parks will make a grant of twenty-five percent of the purchase price and also on all improvements made towards making the grounds into a community park.

LEGION JOTTINGS

WEST LINCOLN BRANCH, No. 127

Next Monthly General Meeting, Wednesday, March 16th, at 8 p.m. Legion Club.

Arrangements are now in hand for the first Salvage Collection of the year to be on Saturday, April 2nd. So get bundled up!

It has been announced that arrangements have been made for certain Merchant Seamen to have an opportunity for vocational training under similar allowances as those provided for members of the armed forces.

Those eligible are merchant seamen under thirty years of age who served in Canadian ships, and who are eligible for, or received the special bonus payable to those in the Merchant Navy prior to April 1st, 1944, or the war service bonus payable subsequent to that date.

The "Cribbage Evening," every Thursday, is going to be a success. Not many out at present, but some good games.

Branch Coming Events General Meeting, Wednesday, March 16th, 8 p.m. Ladies' Auxiliary Bridge and Euchre, High School, Thursday, March 17th, at 8 p.m. Make this a success.

Salvage Collection, Saturday, April 2nd.

ROBINSON "STREETERS" WOULD WELCOME THIS

Skunks have become so prevalent in the village of Caledonia council has decided to offer a bounty to the unwelcome visitors this year.

According to reports received by council the striped cats have been found wandering about the streets, burrowing under houses and garages and generally becoming a nuisance. Some residents state that when they call in the family cat at night, they never know what to expect, while youngsters have been warned not to pick up stray "kitties" no matter how attractive they may be.

In the future, a bounty of $1 will be paid for every dead skunk. Reeve G. A. Blackwell warns, however, that the bounty will not be paid on skunks killed outside the village.

Provincial Police last week said that they were receiving numerous calls from motorists wishing to know regulations regarding making turns at intersections on the Queen Elizabeth Way where traffic lights are installed. The procedure, police say, is exactly the same as if you were making a turn on a traffic-signal-controlled corner in the city. When approaching the traffic light a left hand turn must be made only when the green traffic signal is on with you as you approach the intersection. Once the motorist turns off the right-hand lane, he comes to a stop at the other lane, waits for traffic to pass, and then may proceed through the red traffic light on the side-road without waiting for it to change.
